

Deck General – Safety

Deck Safety

This Study Guide Generated For

Preview Only

Download the complete studyguide

in the online study:

<https://cgexams.seasources.net>

DO NOT DISTRIBUTE

What represents poor sanitary procedures?

Locate potable (drinking) water tanks as low as possible in the bilge.

See REF176

One method of controlling rats on vessels is by rat-proofing. Rat-proofing is accomplished by _____.

eliminating possible living spaces for rats when the ship is constructed

See REF176

A Deratization Exemption Certificate is valid for a period of _____.

6 months

See REF176

What is the period of validity of a De-Rat certificate?

6 months

Normally, potable water systems are connected directly to the _____.

domestic water tank

Normally Before taking drinking water on board in the U.S. or its possessions, the responsible person from the vessel should determine that the source _____.

is approved by the Public Health Service

Normally Which chemical is used to treat water in order to ensure its safety for drinking?

Chlorine

See REF176

Normally It is desirable to have screens on the vents of potable water tanks to _____.

stop insects from entering

Normally Your vessel is on a voyage of three months duration. The number of sanitary inspections required is

_____.

one

See REF176

Good housekeeping on a vessel prevents fires by _____.

eliminating potential fuel sources

See REF176

In general, how often are sanitary inspections of passenger and crew quarters made aboard passenger vessels in river service?

Once each month

See REF176

On a tankship, sanitary inspections of the crew's quarters are the responsibility of the _____.

Master and Chief Engineer

See REF177

The officer responsible for the sanitary condition of the engineering department is the _____.

Chief Engineer

See REF176

REF176

The most basic fire prevention rule is to practice "Good housekeeping" This means keeping your vessel clean and ship shape. Including the interior of all ventilation ducts.

REF177

The most frequent cause of vessel fires is smoking tobacco products. This is why most fires occur in the living quarters. Cargo oil fires most commonly occur in the pumproom.

SeaSources.net